

AGL Biomass Policy

April 2015

AGL will not consider contracting with, or investing in, biomass projects that:

- > Source any fuel from a native forest; or
- > Source any fuel from a plantation forest located on a site that was cleared of native forest after 1990.

AGL will consider contracting with, or investing in, biomass projects that:

- > Source fuel from wood waste obtained from a plantation forest located on a site that has not been native forest at any time since 1990;
- > Source fuel from biomass obtained from a plantation that is sustainably harvested (i.e. energy crops); or
- > Source fuel from environmental projects designed to control noxious weeds.

AGL will consider other localised environmental issues on a project-by-project basis, taking into account stakeholder views.