Public Reports

WGEA publishes the Public Report, except personal information in whole, or part on the Data Explorer and uses its contents in whole or part for other purposes in electronic or other formats.

Two documents make up your Public Report and can be generated and downloaded after preparing your submission for lodgement:

- Public Report – Questionnaire
- Public Report – Employee Data Tables

The Public Report must be:

- Given to your CEO or equivalent for review, approval and sign off before lodgement.
- Shared in accordance with the Notification and Access requirements under the Workplace Gender Equality Act 2012 (the Act).

Report contacts will be asked to declare in the Portal that all relevant CEO or equivalents have signed the public report.

Detailed information on the requirements to share the public report with your employees, members or shareholders can be found within the online Reporting Guide on Notification and Access requirements.

Gender Equality Standards

If there is a single entity employing 500 or more employees, they must have a policy or strategy in place against each of the six Gender Equality Indicators. More information can be found within the online reporting guide on Gender Equality Standards.

Workplace Overview

Policies & Strategies

Employer policies or strategies on workplace gender equality and the composition of the workforce can be powerful levers for making progress and change. Policies or strategies are most effective when backed up by evidence-informed action plans to address areas of imbalance and inequality. Similarly, targets are achievable, time-framed goals that create mechanisms for accountability and are effective when combined with dedicated actions to help achieve them.

Governing Bodies

Gender balance on governing bodies or Boards is good for business. It contributes to workplace gender equality outcomes and improved company performance more broadly. Measures to support gender balance in the governing body include analysing the gender representation of chairs and other members, considering gender in the selection of Board members, and taking action to drive change through term limits, gender equality targets and policies.

1.6 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to governing bodies and gender equality in your workplace, do so below.

AGL's Diversity and Inclusion Policy describes AGL's approach to diversity and inclusion and how these attributes are to be embedded in AGL workplaces. It provides a framework to effectively embed and support a diverse and inclusive workplace for all employees and describes behaviours, including discrimination, harassment, and bullying, that are unlawful and unacceptable at AGL. AGL's Diversity & Inclusion Council (Council) supports the achievement of a diverse workforce and an inclusive culture. The Council, chaired by the CEO, brings together AGL's six Diversity Employee Network Groups and Operational Site Employee Networks to explore ways to make diversity and inclusion part of strategic and everyday performance at AGL. The P&PC recommends measurable objectives for achieving gender diversity to the Board for adoption each year and receives regular reports on the progress in achieving those objectives.

Action on Gender Equality

Gender Pay Gaps

The gender pay gap is the difference in average or median earnings between women and men. It is a measure of how we value the contribution of women and men in the workforce. The gender pay gap is not to be confused with women and men being paid the same for the same, or comparable, job – this is equal pay. Equal pay for equal work is a legal requirement in Australia. However, illegal instances of unequal pay can still be one of the many drivers of the gender pay gap. Closing the gender pay gap is important for Australia's economic future and reflects our aspiration to be an equal and fair society for all.

2.1 Do you have formal policies and/or formal strategies on equal remuneration (pay equity and the gender pay gap) between women and men?

Yes

Policy; Strategy

2.1a Do the formal policies and/or formal strategies include any of the following?

To achieve gender pay equity; To close the gender pay gap; To ensure no gender bias occurs at any point in the remuneration review process (for example at commencement, at annual salary reviews, out-of-cycle pay reviews, and performance reviews); To ensure managers are held accountable for pay equity outcomes; To implement and/or maintain a transparent and rigorous performance assessment process

2.2 Have you conducted analysis to determine if there are remuneration gaps between women and men?

Yes

2.2a What type of gender remuneration gap analysis has been undertaken?

Like-for-like pay gaps analysis which compares the same or similar roles of equal or comparable value to identify unequal pay; Overall gender pay gap analysis to identify the difference between women's and men's average pay and gender composition across the whole organisation; A comprehensive gender pay gap analysis, looking at base salary and total remuneration, workforce composition, talent acquisition and employee movements

2.2b When was the most recent gender remuneration gap analysis undertaken?

Within the last 12 months

2.2c Did you take any actions as a result of your gender remuneration gap analysis?

Yes

Corrected instances of unequal pay; Identified cause/s of the gaps; Reported results of pay gap analysis to the governing body; Reported results of pay gap analysis to the executive; Reported results of pay gap analysis to all employees

You may also provide more detail below on the gender remuneration gap analysis that was undertaken.

2.3 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to employer action on pay equity and/or gender remuneration gaps in your workplace, please do so below.

We conduct periodic, comprehensive analysis of the remuneration of our employees outside the annual remuneration review for employees on Total Fixed Remuneration (TFR) from the CEO down. AGL has governance processes to ensure that other pay related activities such as payment of short-term incentives do not lead to unintended biases. They do this via a moderation process.

Action on Gender Equality

Employee Consultation

Engaging employees through consultation on gender equality issues helps employers to understand the employee experience and to take meaningful action. Employers can use the information they learn through the consultation process to generate solutions that are practical and relevant to their organisation.

2.4 Have you consulted with employees on issues concerning gender equality in your workplace during the reporting period?

Yes

Strategy

2.8 If your organisation would like to provide additional information relating to employee consultation on gender Equality in your workplace, please do so below.

AGL has a formal Diversity and Inclusion Governance Framework that outlines key consultation and feedback forums for gender equality. AGL's Diversity and Inclusion Council is a formal consultation forum which includes employee representation from intersectional diversity network groups and provides a forum for gender equality issues across a range of dimensions. AGL's Equality committee comprises members across the organisation and is sponsored by the Chief Information Officer; smaller working groups operate at each of AGL's major sites and within specific Business Units to provide opportunities for two-way dialogue to identify opportunities to increase gender equality. AGL's CEO undertook periodic listen and learn sessions with employees of different gender identities at various stages of their career and from different sites to understand the lived experience of employees. AGL conducts an annual Employee Listening survey which asks for employee feedback across a range of factors such as leadership, work life blend, learning and development, enablement, and inclusion. The outputs of this survey are analysed by gender representation to determine key issues and opportunities for gender equality. AGL offers targeted leadership development opportunities to female employees, providing a safe and supported environment for people to share progress and challenges in personal and professional lives. Additionally, AGL acknowledges key days of significance, such as International Women's Day and AGL Men's Day to provide opportunities to share knowledge and raise awareness across the workforce of the significance, challenges and opportunities for gender equality.

Flexible Work

Flexible Working Arrangements

A flexible working arrangement is an agreement between an employer and an employee to change the standard working arrangement, often through a change to the hours, pattern or location of work. Flexible work is a key enabler of gender equality, helps accommodate an employee's commitments out of work and has become increasingly important for employers in attracting and retaining diverse and talented employees.

Employee Support for Parents and Carers

Paid Parental Leave

Parental leave policies are designed to support and protect working parents around the time of childbirth or adoption of a child and when children are young. Some employers offer universally available parental leave policies, offering equal parental leave for all parents, others offer with a distinction between 'primary' and 'secondary' carers. It's important that it's a policy that's available to all parents, irrespective of gender, <sup>19</sup>recognising the equally important role of all parents in caregiving. Gender equal policies help to de-gender the ideal worker and carer norms, which pervade the workplace and reduce opportunities for women to remain in, or re-enter the workforce.

During this reporting period our People and Culture team confirmed completion of the roll out of Respect@AGL training to over 4000 employees at all of our work sites. Respect@AGL is a training program designed to reinforce commitment to provide a safe, diverse and inclusive workplace for all our people. AGL's annual compliance training is also completed by all new starters and all employees annually. Content includes how to maintain a respectful culture of ethical behaviour which is core to our purpose and values. Ensuring a safe environment is not just a legal obligation but also essential for fostering a positive and respectful workplace. In a survey completed during this period hosted by Australian Workplace Equality Index (AWEI), 177 survey respondents (76%) Strongly agree or agree that there are identified confidential avenues to safely report bullying/harassment related to one's diverse sexuality and/or gender.
