AGL PUMP: Flexible energy procurement.

For businesses whose electricity costs are among their biggest overheads, or for those who wish to have greater control and transparency over their energy procurement, progressive purchasing is an innovative alternative to energy contracts that lock the price in up front.

That's because, unlike with fixed-price, fixed-term contracts, progressive purchasing platforms, like AGL PUMP, don't set the electricity price of your contract up front.

Instead, AGL PUMP enables businesses to progressively purchase electricity in blocks as low as 1MW or as a percentage of your expected load.

More control over your energy purchasing.

Timing's everything. Especially when it comes to locking in your electricity rate.

Wholesale electricity prices fluctuate according to supply and demand in the market which can make a big difference to your overall energy costs.

By purchasing your electricity progressively, you're able to spread your purchase timing over a longer period and lock in rates throughout your contract term.

Complete control and transparency.

- ✓ Access the AGL PUMP online platform at any time to manage your account (note transactions only allowed during ASX operational hours).
- ✓ Inform your decision by checking the current AGL price.
- ✓ Choose how you will progressively purchase electricity for your business, whether in blocks of MW or as a % of expected load.
- ✓ Check the energy cost breakdown.
- ✓ Buy the required energy and keep a record with the Purchase History Report.

How AGL PUMP works

At a glance

AGL PUMP	Fixed Price Contracts
Annual energy consumption >5GWh	Available to all commercial and industrial customers regardless of annual energy consumption
Greater ownership of the timing of market purchases and locking in volume incrementally and the associated price	Price fixed at the time the contract is signed
Full cost transparency and understand how the end energy price is derived.	Full cost transparency not available
