AGL Reference Price Comparison

What does this mean for the average customer? Following the introduction of price regulation, electricity retailers are now required to tell residential and small business customers about how their electricity rates would compare to the benchmark “Reference Price” set by the AER for an average customer. An average residential or small business customer is someone in a particular distribution area (e.g. Ausgrid Networks), on a particular type of tariff (e.g. single rate), who uses the average annual household / small business consumption determined by the AER. Where an energy plan includes different components (i.e. Controlled Load and time of use), the AER has also specified how the average annual usage should be split between these components. Keep in mind that the figures in this section are estimates only and based on the usage patterns of an “average customer”. Your electricity costs may be significantly different depending on your own actual usage.

^Controlled Load tariff eligibility conditions

•You are eligible for the Controlled Load tariff if you move to a Supply Address to which the Controlled Load tariff already applies, or:

(i) AGL has informed you that unless you opt-out: (a) the Controlled Load circuit at your Supply Address will be moved to a lower usage rate; and (b) the timing of energy supply to your Controlled Load will be adjusted; and

(ii) you have not opted-out by the date specified in AGL's letter to you, or subsequently.

•You will no longer be eligible if:

(i) AGL can no longer adjust your Controlled Load timing due to a change in your meter or other circumstances; or

(ii) you move to a new Supply Address to which the Controlled Load tariff set out in this Plan Summary does not already apply.

•If you do not or no longer meet the eligibility conditions of this Controlled Load tariff, then AGL may (subject to regulatory requirements) transfer you to a different tariff.
